

Showing of Rock My Religion

When my video/film "Rock My Religion" is shown it should not be shown outdoors or on a big screen. It is more like a film at Film Forum or a small cinema theatre.

It needs heavy bass and rugs or soft chairs and enough people on the floor to get the right sound response.

The video image has deteriorated, but the sound, which is multi-layered is superb. For me, large screen projections, ~~doesn't~~^{don't} work.

Intimacy and family or dating groups are important. The sound should not cancel out the spoken dialogue (bass and some treble-very little medium sound). Digital reproduction ruins the sound. Stereo amps with good bass speakers will be best. The bass should be turned up. It needs to rumble.
